- Winner of Interpret Britain + Tourist Board Awards 2001

Working for our long term client, English Heritage, we developed a number of new visitor experiences within a scheduled ancient monument. The scheme included a new visitor centre, site rebranding, a new audio tour trail, new interactive children's centre, and a number of site-wide audiovisual programs (by Centre Screen Ltd). We also thoroughly explored issues of access for visitors with sensory and mobility disabilities. We solved a number of complex visitor flow problems and developed memorable historical storylines.

We concealed a highly interactive children's exhibition within a large model of Bolsover Little Castle.

Windows of the walk-in model concealed many interactive's, a puppet theatre and an audio visual program for people who cannot access the castle.

The indoor riding school. All interpretation was carried via 3D sound effects and lighting. A virtual horse and rider would circle the visitor with a conversation being directed to the gallery above. When the house lights came up, no interpretation was visible.

Audio visual ghost experience within the Little Castle developed by Centre Screen. We have had much experience of working within Grade 1 listed buildings and Ancient Monuments.

Robust 'touch' orientation model of the site. We are familiar with addressing the many complex issues related to visitor flow and orientation.
