- An Exhibition Plus project designed by Mark Magidson

A movable “Exhibition Magazine”, responding to news events as they break. The module was designed to be easily movable and flexible and was able to move to any part of the museum and allow for easy adaptation to a number of differing configurations

Cases, pamphlet holders, graphics

Many configurations

Changeable banner

Display slats on all surfaces allow for inclusion of a number of fittings including cases of any size, graphics panels and an easily updatable monitor can include video footage streamed to it from a remote source. Clip on lighting allows for variable lighting effects.
